

Steam Trap and Valve Mount Assembly

Abstract

A steam trap mounting arrangement includes a mount body that includes one or more integral flanges. The flanges function as end fittings for associated ball valves. The mount may be a single casting, such as a metal casting. The mount may further be a universal mounting that permits a plurality of different steam trap configurations to be installed thereon.